LONDON, May 11.

Extract of a Letter from Pampelona, dated April 1. wrote by a Gentleman who sailed from Dublin for Bristol, and there embark'd for Guiney, but was taken by a Spanish Privateer.

THE first of December my Captain and six more made their Escape; I was to have gone with them, but getting over the Wall fell from the Top to the Bottom, which is 40 Feet. I lay in the Trench that Night, but next Morning was seen by the Guard and taken to the Hospital, where I continued till I was well, then brought to the Castle and confin'd in an Arch under the Garrison Wall, none being allow'd to speak to me but the Goaler, and that once in two Days, when he brought me Bread and Water. I continued 3 Weeks in that Dungeon, from whence I was releas'd at the Intercession of an Irish Officer who arriv'd here from Madrid. Three Days after, three Prisoners and I got over the Wall and march'd to the Borders of France; but were taken by some Soldiers, who were in pursuit of Deserters, and brought back in Irons. Our Necks were put in the Stocks for eight Days, after which we were confin'd Day and Night; but the rest had their Liberty all Day. Soon after having Credit at large, we agreed with the Goaler for 60 Pistoles to go along with us to France. We got over the Wall about Two in the Morning, the next Night we reached the Frontiers, where we engag'd twelve Grenadiers who were sent after us: We took their Arms from them and bound them; but we had not march'd a Mile before we saw the Grenadiers and a Body of Peasants who had loosed them, coming up; a Battle immediately ensued, which lasted about half an Hour, during which time two of our Men were kill'd, three of the Grenadiers and two of the Countrymen: The Officer drew off his Men and rode before to alarm the Country, by which Means we were again taken Prisoners: Our Guide got away when we engag'd. We were brought back and put into my old Lodging, and continued there till yesterday. There is an Order from Madrid to march us to Saragossa, 140 Miles from hence, and 'tis said from thence to Mahone, to be exchang'd for the Spanish Prisoners there, and to go on board the English Fleet.

Extract of a Letter from Berlin, May 2. N. S.

Prince Henry and Prince Ferdinand, the King's Brothers, set out this Morning for the Army, commanded by the Velt Marshal Prince of Anhalt Dassau. Last Week Colonel Schmettau pass'd through this City going to the Camp in Silesia, where we presume he is to execute an important Commission from the Court of Vienna.

The Lord Hynford is gone to Silesia, whither the Baron de Ginckel is to repair in a Day or two. Their Excellencies are charged to make some Proposals to the King about the Affair of Silesia, and at the same Time to acquaint his Majesty with the Resolutions of the King of Great-Britain and the States General, with respect to the Pragmatick Sanction.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague.

Letters from Francfort bring the following remarkable Piece of News, viz. That the Prince Anhault Dessau, who commands the Prussian Army assembled near Magdeburg, was marching into Lusatia. People cannot comprehend the Meaning of this, seeing that Country belongs to the House of Saxony, to which it was granted after the War of Bohemia. Perhaps the King of Prussia may have order'd the Prince to reinforce him, and to take his Route thro' Lower Lusatia, where his Majesty indeed has Cotwitz, Pescaw, and Stockaw; for no Body is aware that the King of Prussia has any Pretension to Lusatia.

Tho' Fuel is continually adding to the Flame that is kindled between the King of Prussia and the Queen of Hungary, great Pains are taken here to extinguish it. His Britannick Majesty has privately concerted with the States General, the Measures proper to be taken for stopping the Enterprizes tending to defeat the Pragmatick Sanction, and for succouring the House of Austria, the ancient and natural Ally to the Maritime Powers. Mr Trevor has since acquainted their High Mightinesses, that at London both Houses of Parliament had almost unanimously agreed to send Succours to the Queen of Hungary, and had likewise offer'd to defend his Majesty's German Territories, in Case they should be attack'd by any one from a Prejudice to the Resolution they had then taken. This Minister at the same Time demanded the Concurrence of their High Mightinesses to these Measures, to which five Provinces readily gave their Assent; whereupon it was resolv'd to communicate this Affair to the Ambassador of France, and to invite his most Christian Majesty to join with the Maritime Powers, in order to form a triple Alliance for re-establishing the Tranquility, and for bringing about an amicable Accommodation between his Prussian Majesty and the Queen of Hungary. It's not doubted but the Court of France will accept of this Invitation, which is altogether consonant with the pacifick System of the Cardinal Minister.

The Court of Denmark is obstinate in persisting to hinder the Dutch from the Freedom of Navigation in Greenland, &c. which they have enjoy'd for several Ages.

Berlin, May 9. The 7th Instant about two o'Clock in the Afternoon, M. Sydow, a Captain in Prince Charles's Regiment, preceeded by ten Postilions blowing their Horns, arriv'd here from the King's Army in Silesia, with the agreeable News that the Fortress of Breig surrendred the 4th Instant. By the Capitulation the Commander is bound never to bear Arms against the King; the Garrison is also obliged not to serve against his Majesty for two Years to come.

Newport

Newport, Rhode-Island, July 24.

This Morning arrived here Capt. G. Fox in the Privateer Sloop Revenge, and brought with him as Prize, a fine Bermudas built Sloop of about 40 Tons, which he took on the Coaſt of Caraccas. She is loaden with Bale-Goods, Money, Cocoa, Arms, Ammunition, &c. and about 20 good Slaves, and is ſuppoſed worth not much leſs than Twenty Thouſand Pounds. The Captain and Gunner are French Men, but the Sloop is ſaid to have been fitted out at Curacoa by ſome Jews. Some of the Men have confeſs'd their ſelling Powder, &c. to the Spaniards, and a conſiderable Quantity of Piſtoles were found hid in the Bales of Goods.

About 3 Weeks ago Capt. Fox ſaw off of Donna Maria Bay, at the Weſt End of Hiſpaniola, 11 Sail of large Engliſh Men of War. Capt. Dent in the Hampton-Court, ſent his Lieut. on board, who informed they were on an Expedition, but did not tell where they were bound. About Crooked Iſland Capt. Fox ſaw 5 or 6 more large Ships ſtanding Northward, but did not care to go too near them, and ſo can't tell whether they were Engliſh or Spaniards.

BOSTON, July 27.

On Thurſday the 17th Inſt. two young Gentlemen belonging to Ipſwich, riding to a Place call'd Caſtle-neck Beach in ſaid Town, ſcituated near the Mouth of the River, met with a labouring Man who told them he would ſhow them a Rarity; and immediately carried them about half a Mile, to a large Sand Bank, and upon entring his Hoe diſcovered a quantity of Snow congeal'd to an Ice; and after a diligent Survey, they modeſtly computed the whole (as far as their diſcoveries extended) to contain many Hundreds of Cart Loads, and the whole Maſs near four foot thick. The Gentlemen out of Curioſity brought a Specimen of it to Town in a Bag, and in conveyance it waſted but little, but in its diſſolving yielded a gallon of Water, out of which they (with ſome other curious Spectators) made a Bowl of Punch, and drank with warm Hearts the Noble Admiral VERNON'S Health.

Extract of a Letter from New-London, dated July 9. 1741.

---There is now at Lyme, the firſt Town on the Eaſt ſide of our River, at the Tail of a Saw Mill, a Body of Ice, as much as two Carts can draw, clear and ſolid, and I believe might lay there a Month longer, were it not that ſo many reſort out of Curioſity to drink Punch made of it. If any of Boſton People have a mind for a Taſte, they muſt come quickly, and for Eighteen Pence a Bowl, they ſhall be complimented with a Kindly Welcome, Sir, for your Money.

Our Colony's Sloop, will be ready to ſail in a few Days; ſhe is at New-London, is a very fine Veſſel of 114 Tons, mounts 24 Guns, viz. 12 Carriage and 12 Swivel: She was built by Mr. James Ward of Middleton, and was compleated, (with all her Top Timbers finiſhed, Ports hung, chain Plates on, Hatches made, prim'd and launch'd) within the Space of nineteen Days and half, working Days.

NEW-YORK, Auguſt 3.

On Wedneſday laſt one John Ury, a Romiſh Prieſt was tried for being concerned in the late Conſpiracy, and after a Trial of about nine Hours was capitally convicted thereof, and is this Week to receive his Sentence.

By Capt. Leacraft who arrived here on Saturday laſt, in 21 Days from Jamaica, we are informed, that the Admiral with about 100 Sail of Veſſels was gone to St. Jago de Cuba; and by private Letters we hear, that there is not a very good Underſtanding between the Admiral and General, and that Col Blakeney is to command the Land-Forces on this Expedition, which are about 2800 Men, beſides 1000 Negroes; and that Col Gooch is return'd to Virginia. We hear likewiſe, that the Sickneſs at Jamaica is abated, and that the Place is now very healthy.

Laſt Saturday 5 Veſſels arrived here from Jamaica, being the Veſſels that carried the Voluntiers from hence to Admiral Vernon; by whom we have Advice, that that Admiral was ſeen at Sea this Day Fortnight, with about 100 Sail of Veſſels, on his Expedition to St. Jago de Cuba.

Yeſterday Capt. Tingle arrived here from Georgia (but laſt from South-Carolina) by whom we hear, that Capt. Rouſe in a Boſton Privateer, had taken off of Cape Fear, a Spaniſh Privateer with 19 Men on board, and carried her into Charles-Town: She had been only 3 Days out of St. Auguſtine, and had done no Miſchief That the General's Sloop had run another Privateer on Shore near the Matanças, and that Proviſions are very ſcarce and dear in Georgia. Capt. Tingle ſays he narrowly eſcaped being taken by a Spaniſh Privateer, between the Capes of Delaware and Sandy-hook.

Extract of a Letter from the Town of Frederica, in Georgia dated July 11. 1741.

"I acquaint you for good News, that a great Number of our Indians are come to ſee us with the Heads of their Nation; they have ſtaid ſome time with us; our General has receiv'd them with all the Marks of Eſteem imaginable; and they ſeeing the Affection that our General ſhew'd them, they travel'd over towards the Spaniards, and went within Muſquet Shot of the Town, and met with nothing but a Spaniſh Cavalero, who is equipt with all the Grandeur of an Auguſtine Officer; they brought him into this Town of Frederica, where the General reſides: The above named Cavalero is lodged at my Quarters by Order of our General. We have had, and have ſtill about St. Auguſtine, a conſiderable Party of Indians, who have killed and taken Numbers of Spaniards; they have been harraſs'd ſo that they dare not ſtir out of Town for their Neceſſaries, but are lock'd in a Cage: The Indians departed Yeſterday, after taking Leave of the General, and told him that they would ſoon ſee him again; they are to return in two Months, and to bring with them a Thouſand or Twelve Hundred Men. --- Pour lors cela ne ſera point pour enfiler des perles.

PHILADELPHIA.

On the 4th Inſtant, died ANDREW HAMILTON, Eſq; and was the next Day inter'd at Buſh Hill, his Country Seat. His Corps was attended to the Grave by a great Number of his Friends, deeply affected with their own, but more with their Country's Loſs. He lived not without Enemies: For, as he was himſelf open and honeſt, he took pains to unmask the Hypocrite, and boldly cenſured the Knave, without regard to Station and Profeſſion. Such, therefore, may exult at his Death. He ſteadily maintained the Cauſe of Liberty; and the Laws made, during the time he was Speaker of the Aſſembly, which was many Years, will be a laſting Monument of his Affection to the People, and of his Concern for the welfare of this Province. He was no Friend to Power, as he had obſerved an ill uſe had been frequently made of it in the Colonies; and therefore was ſeldom upon good Terms with Governors. This Prejudice, however, did not always determine his Conduct towards them; for where he ſaw they meant well, he was for ſupporting them honourably, and was indefatigable in endeavouring to remove the Prejudices of others. He was long at the Top of his

Pro-

Profeſſion here, and had he been as griping as he was knowing and active, he might have left a much greater Fortune to his Family than he has done: But he ſpent more Time in hearing and reconciling Differences in private, to the Loſs of his Fees, than he did in pleading Cauſes at the Bar. He was juſt, where he ſat as a Judge; and tho' he was ſtern and ſevere in his Manner, he was compaſſionate in his Nature, and very ſlow to puniſh. He was the Poor Man's Friend, and was never known to with-hold his Purſe or Service from the Indigent or Oppreſſed. He was a tender Husband and a fond Parent: But --theſe are Virtues which Fools and Knaves have ſometimes in common with the Wiſe and the Honeſt. His free Manner of treating Religious Subjects, gave Offence to many, who, if a Man may judge by their Actions, were not themſelves much in earneſt. He feared God, loved Mercy, and did Juſtice: If he could not ſubſcribe to the Creed of any particular Church, it was not for want of conſidering them All; for he had read much on Religious Subjects. He went through a tedious Sickneſs with uncommon Chearfulneſs, Conſtancy and Courage. Nothing of affected Bravery or Oſtentation appeared; But ſuch a Compoſure and Tranquility of Mind, as reſults from the Reflection of a Life ſpent agreeable to the beſt of a Man's Judgment. He preſerved his Underſtanding and his Regard for his Friends to the laſt Moment. What was given as a Rule for a Poet, upon another Occaſion, may be juſtly apply'd to Him upon this,
